

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

THIS SUNDAY May 1st & BEYOND

In this Sunday's gospel lesson from John's account of the last supper, Jesus tells the disciples that if they love him, they'll keep his words. He says this not to lean on them or put pressure on them, but so that he and the Father can "make their home in them." This reminds me of one of my favorite prayers, which asks for the grace to be cleansed from sin so that when Jesus comes he'll find a mansion prepared in us. Both point to the reality that our actions reveal what or who we love. How do we spend most of our money? What do we do with our time when we have control over it? Often our calendars and bank statements remind us that centering our lives on Jesus doesn't just happen on its own.

Committing ourselves to a personal relationship with him has been the focus of our Sunday morning Christian formation (9:30, Fireside Room in Parish Hall). This Sunday we'll start looking at how we live together as members of his own body, the Church, and encounter him in the places he promises to meet us, the sacraments. Learning to do this treasures the beauty of what Jesus has given us and stokes the fire that makes our hearts a home for him.

Come and See,
